

The Tragicke

With reuerend fathers and well learned Bishops.

Buc. About three or foure a clocke looke to heare
What newes Guild-hall affordeth, and so my Lord farewell.

Glo. Now will I in to take some priuie order (Ex. Buc.)
To draw the Brates of Clarence, out of sight,
And to giue notice that no manner of person
At any time haue recourse vnto the Princes.

Enter a Scrivener with a paper in his hand.

This is the indictment of the good Lord Hastings,
Which in a fet hand fairely is ingross'd,
That it may be this day red ouer in Pauls:
And marke how well the sequell hangs together,
Eleuen houres I spent to writ it ouer,
For yesternight by Catesby was it brought me,
The president was full as long a doeing,
And yet within these fiue houres liu'd Lord Hastings
Vntainted, vnexamin'd: free at liberty:
Here's a good world the while, Why who's so grosse
That sees not this palpable deuce?

Yet who so blind but sayes he sees it not?
Bad is the world and all will come to nought,
When such bad dealing must be scene in thought: Exit.

Enter Gloucester at one doore, Buckingham at another.

Glo. How now my Lord what sayes the Citizens?

Buc. Now by the holy mother of our Lord,
The Citizens are mumme and speake not a word.

Glo. Toucht you the bastardy of Edward's Children?

Buc. I did: with the insatiate greedinesse of his desires,
His tyranny for trifles: his owne bastardy,
As being got your father then in France:
Withall I did inferre your lineaments,
Being the right Idea of your father:
Both in forme and noblenesse of minde:
Layd vpon all your victories in Scotland:
Your Discipline in warre, wisdom in peace:
Your bounty, vertue, faire humilitie:
Vntouch't or sleightly handled in discourse:
And when my oratory grew to end,

of Richard the Third.

I had them that loues their Countries good,
Cry God saue Richard Englands royall King!

Glo. And did they so?

Buc. No so God helpe me,

But like dumbe statues or breathlesse stones,
Gazde each on other and lookt deadly pale:
Which when I saw, I reprehended them:
And askt the Maior what meanes this wilful silence?

His answer was the people were not wont
To be spooke too, but by the Recorder.
Then he was wr'de to tell my tale againe:
Thus saith the Duke, thus hath the Duke infer'd:
But nothing spake in warrant from himselfe:
When he had done, some followers of mine owne
At the lower end of the hall, hurled vp their caps,
And some ten voyces cryed, God saue King Richard!
Thankes noble Citizens and friends quoth I,
This generall applause and louing shoute,
Argues your wisdom and your loue to Richard:
And so brake off and came away.

Glo. what tonguelesse blockes were they, would they not

Buc. No by my troth my Lord, (speake?)

Glo. Will not the Mayor then, and his brethren come?

Buc. The Mayor is heere: and intend some feare,
Be not spoken withall, but with mighty sute:
And looke you get a prayer booke in your hand,
And stand betwixt two Church-men good my Lord,
For on that ground Ile build a holy descant:
Be not easie wonne to our request:

Play the maydes part, say no, but take it.

Glo. Feare not me, if thou canst pleade as well for them,

As I can say nay to thee for my selfe,

No doubt weels bring it to a happy issue.

Buc. you shall see what I can do, get you vp to the leads, Ex.

Now my Lord Maior, you dance attendance heere,
I thinke the Duke will not be spoken withall. Enter Catesby
Here comes his seruant: how now Catesby, what sayes hee?

Car. My Lord he doth intreat your grace
To visit him to morrow, or next day:

He
